HISTORY OF NIKISZOWIEC

NIKISZOWIEC HISTORY

- A historic housing estate in Katowice in the auxiliary unit Janów - Nikiszowiec, created in the years 1908 -1919 on the initiative of the mining and metallurgical concern Georg von Giesches Erben as a workers' housing estate for miners of the Giesche mine (changed to Wieczorek) built in near Giszowiec.

NIKISZOWIEC HISTORY: CREATORS

- The estate was designed by architects Emil and Georg Zillmann from Charlottenburg, who were also the authors of the design of the neighboring Giszowiec.

NIKISZOWIEC HISTORY: CREATORS

- Laundries, a church, various shops, a market and much more have been specially built for the residents of the estate.

NIKISZOWIEC HISTORY

- In 1951, the estate became part of a new town – Szopienice. On December 31, 1959, Nikiszowiec together with Szopienice and Janów was incorporated into Katowice.

NIKISZOWIEC HISTORY

- The urban and spatial layout of the Nikiszowiec workers' housing estate from 1908 – 1918 was entered into the register of monuments at 19 August 1979.

FORGOTTEN OCCUPATION: LAUNDRESS,
WASHERWOMAN

COMMUNITY

- During the day, most of the men went to work in the mine. At the same time, women also had their professions at home.

PRACZKA - LAUNDRESS

- Laundresses were working on the laundry.
- Their work took place in those days in modern conditions. They used special machines to make it easier for themselves to wash their clothes.

PRALNIA – LAUNDRY

- In Nikiszowiec, the laundry room was located in a separate building for everyone. This was to prevent the accumulation of moisture in the apartments.
